

Full Length Reproduction

Perfect Me Perfect Unity

Hanan Muhammed Abdul-Rashid *
Toronto (Canada)

Received November 19, 2014; Accepted October 27 2015

Key words: literature, poetry, linguistics, unity, pilgrimage

PERFECT ME PERFECT UNITY

What a marvelous touch of a feeling
That suddenly reached my heart and cling
One step I took to the great pilgrimage
Has wiped clean my distorted image
Every breath I took I wish I grasped
Till my heartbeat stopped and body collapsed
Never have I experienced a smile of true bliss
With such calmness and state of great peace
I started touching my body with disbelief
For life outside was only tears, stress and grief
I almost panicked and flee
When suddenly attention circled and gripped me
Everyone was a reflection of everyone
But with faces from different continents, still they were one
The kindness reflected, honest words uttered,
Uniform ihrams and modest clothes dressed
Were all signs of Islamic Ummah's ultimate unity
Mingled with the individuals purity
How I wish the nations were centered just in Hajj
How I wish I lived and passed with my personality I discovered in hajj
For my soul and body's core
Has proved to imbibe delight through every pore

2008

*Corresponding author: seeking_illm@yahoo.com